Mercury Grand Marquis

Two years ago we drove a 1973 Marquis Brougham day and night for 40,000 miles, and then matched its ride against a $28,000 European luxury sedan with less than 600 miles on the odometer. Out of 50 professional chauffeurs, 38 rated Marquis superior in riding comfort.

Grand Marquis for 1975 continues a Mercury reputation as one of the world's finest riding cars. Together with gas-saving steel-belted radials, a solid-state ignition system that doesn't require breaker point replacement, increased fuel tank capacity and new improved power steering at low speeds, it all adds up to convenience and welcome economy in a beautiful car with a luxurious ride. Among the many fine options you can select for your 1975 Grand Marquis are four-wheel disc brakes and the Sure-Track Brake System which provide improved directional control under maximum braking conditions.

Mercury Grand Marquis interiors

In the expertly tailored, elegantly textured richness of the Grand Marquis interior you may well experience the ultimate luxury in a medium-price car. A heavy barrier of eleven different kinds of sound insulation helps shield you from tiring, distracting road noise as you drive. You settle sumptuously in individually adjustable Twin Comfort Lounge Seats, sheathed in seating surfaces of soft leather or plush velour.

Twin Comfort Lounge Seats, available with optional 6-way/6-way power adjustment, permit both passenger and driver to select individual positioning for comfort. A passenger seat that reclines is also available as an option. All about you are signs that the comfort of you and your passengers has been uppermost in the minds of the designers who conceived this magnificent interior: assist straps, map reading lamps, digital clock, armrests, the thick carpeting that extends smartly up the sides.
