Mercury Bobcat has a new look for 1979. A styling treatment that brings impressiveness to small car design.

MERCURY BOBCAT 3-DOOR RUNABOUT. SPORTY AND VERSATILE.

The Bobcat 3-door Runabout, a smart, versatile car with a sporty image you can tailor to please, is shown in two optional packages. The silver metallic Runabout in the foreground features the Sports Package Option. In the background is the Runabout with the Sports Accent Group which is shown with the optional flip-up removable moonroof. Each has a wealth of sporty accents detailed on page 7.

Check Bobcat's new vertical grille, its new power dome hood, and don't overlook its rectangular headlamps and parking lamps. Inside, Bobcat has a new instrument panel. We think you'll agree that Bobcat's a sporty cat, and a value cat with rack-and-pinion steering, AM radio, tinted glass, styled steel wheels with trim rings and steel-belted radial tires, all standard. (The AM radio may be deleted for credit.)

Bobcat optional Sports Accent Group w/Sports Instrumentation (See page 7 for detail)

The 3-door Runabout offers room for four with the rear seat up. The standard high-back bucket seats are shown below in two decor choices: All-vinyl black, also available in 1979 MERCURY BOBCAT STATION WAGONS, LOADED WITH GOOD LOOKS, INSIDE AND OUT.

Mercury Bobcat offers you a choice in station wagons: the Bobcat Wagon and the Bobcat Villager which is designed with rosewood-tone appliques on bodyside and tailgate.

Each offers functional utility and roominess, with over 57 cubic feet of cargo volume. Both are fun-to-drive wagons, with AM radio, rack-and-pinion steering, steel-belted radial tires and popular 2.3 litre four-cylinder engine standard. And both are equipped with counter-balanced tailgates for easy access, and a warning light to alert you when the liftgate has been left open.

Bobcat Wagon standard equipment (in addition to Bobcat 3-door Runabout features on page 3):

- Hinged quarter window
- Liftgate open warning system
- Cargo area light
- Three pod vertical taillamps

Bobcat Villager standard equipment in addition to Bobcat Wagon:

- Rosewood-tone appliques and woodtone bodyside moldings

- Rosewood-tone liftgate applique
- Villager block letters on tailgate
- Load floor carpet.

MERCURY BOBCAT. A PLEASURE TO OWN. FUN TO DRIVE.

Rack-and-pinion steering. Like many expensive European sports cars, Bobcat has rack-and-pinion steering. It provides positive response for turns and easy parking. Optional variable ratio power steering is also available for your 1979 Bobcat.

2.3 Litre engine and manual transmission standard. The 2.3 litre 4-cylinder overhead cam engine and four-speed stick transmission are standard for all Bobcats. Optional 2.8 litre V-6 engine and automatic transmission are also available.

Stagger-mounted shock absorbers. Rear shock absorbers on Bobcat are angle mounted to slant inward to assist control. Large rubber bushings are used in mounting the shocks to help control noise and vibration levels.
